YEAR 12 FILM STUDENTS IN THE FINAL STAGES OF PRODUCTION

Lights, cameras – action! Our Year 12 Film, Television and New Media students are in their final week of production, busily editing and polishing their creative works. This year's cohort has impressed with their dedication and talent, with four students currently sitting on a perfect 100%. Using industry-standard software and professional equipment, students are producing high-quality short films that showcase their skills in storytelling, cinematography, and post-production. The results are already promising, and we're excited to see the final products on screen. If your student is interested in screen studies, gaming, media, or communications but you're unsure of what pathway to take, we encourage you to reach out to our Creative Arts Head of Department, Mr Gunn. With the right guidance and support, students can turn their creative passions into exciting futures. At Aldridge, we help students Imagine, Create and Inspire.

BUILDING SKILLS FOR A CAREER IN HEALTH

Our students undertaking the Certificate II in Health Support Services have made a strong start to 2025, proudly stepping into their new scrubs as they launch into their studies with enthusiasm and professionalism.

Delivered onsite at Aldridge SHS by Axiom College, this program provides students with a nationally recognised qualification and valuable insight into the health care industry. Under the guidance of trainer Tarryn, students have already covered key units including workplace health and safety, infection control practices, working with diverse people, and effective communication in health and community services. Upcoming lessons will further build their knowledge in medical terminology, food safety, and general cleaning tasks in clinical settings. We'd like to extend a big thank you to Axiom College and Tarryn for providing this incredible opportunity and supporting our students on their career pathways in health.
